Producer, yep.

Sarkic's name was not on the list as of Sep 3 because we have a post in this thread viewtopic.php?f=40&t=283885&hilit=crane&start=60

Another proof that Sarkic is the producer. The Scout Film page also lists the movie as their production.

If brad pitt can get away with smuggling guns I suppose angelina jolie won't have much trouble wiggling out of her plagiarism issues, but I don't think they will get away with these kinds of things forever or for much longer even. Whoever protects them has got to be experiencing diminishing returns by now on those two.

When the protection finally ends, things will really get interesting.

Hollywood actor and director Clint Eastwood decided to his colleague Angelina Jolie to give a few tips before she start directing the film in Bosnia and Herzegovina. “Let’s get some sleep well, much more than actors do. And next gather around a good management, and most importantly - let them know what she want, what she is looking and to accomplish some,” said Clint.

Although many doubt the ability of its director skills, Eastwood admits that he believes in it. “It is a very intelligent woman. I know she will do an excellent job. I have not discussed with her about the film, but I know she will know when to stop. I can not wait to see her film debut,” adds the Oscar winner.

Remember, Angelina will her debut in Bosnia and Herzegovina to begin filming in November this year, and her right hand will be Edin Sarkic from the production company Scout film, with whom Angelina agreed to cooperate. Although it has not officially confirmed, some parts of Angelina’s film based on a story of forbidden love between Muslim girl and Serb, which is the way the war began, should be recorded on the lookout from which you can see the whole Sarajevo and the Jewish cemetery and ‘Kozja’ bridge. As far as actors, Angelina has already stated that she will not play in the movie and how it will engage actors from the region. So far the only confirmed that one of the roles assigned to Rade Serbedzija.

Please post the link because you seem really stupid trying to recite the article. 😞

poor loon!!! 😞

THIS is why this site is a joke. NOT EVERYONE who disagrees or has a different view point is a LOON. And every time someone calls a poster a loon for a differing opinion - it makes this site look foolish. It also keeps intelligent people with worthwhile comments from posting for fear of being attacked.

Ah honey, puhleez... I can handle falsely being called a loon without falling apart... so what.... I'll live.

His name was removed because Braddock can prove he met him, he can't prove he met Jolie. And a producer isn't as obvious as a director/"writer" for removing from a movie list.

AND the case is ultimately about public perception. The film isn't going to make much money and may be a loss. The court trial will be procedural if anything. So it's what the parties can do to affect the public opinions. And this is one sneaky preemptive strike to distance herself from the guy with a direct link to the plaintiff. It's a guilty move if you ask me.

Edin Sarkic was a producer in Jolie's directorial debut. Mentioned numerous times in THR as being the Bosnian producer. Also mentioned in Braddock's lawsuit against Jolie. Now it appears that his name has been removed from the I.M.d.b. page for the movie. Why would that happen?

This is a telling development! This needs to stay front page and we need to cache pages with proof.

Someone needs to hurry and check if her pants are on fire. A notorious result of 😏 😏 .

Searching late 2010, there are many articles popping up referencing Edin Sarkic of Scout Film as "producer" "executive" "spokesperson for Jolie" "location manager" and others. Stands to reason he was a major player. Odd indeed that he is no longer listed on im.db.
